

Partnering Organizations

Sacramento Area Commerce & Trade Association
Sacramento Metropolitan Chamber of Commerce
Valley Vision
American Electronics Association
Building Industry Association of Superior California
California Alliance for Jobs
California State University, Sacramento
Community Services Planning Council
El Dorado County, Office of Education
LEED-Sacramento
Los Rios Community College District
Nehemiah Corporation
Pacific Gas & Electric Company
Regional Water Authority
Roseville Electric
Sacramento Area Council of Governments
Sacramento Area Human Resources Association
Sacramento Area Regional Technology Alliance
Sacramento Arts & Business Council
Sacramento Asian Pacific-Islander Chamber of Commerce
Sacramento Association of Realtors
Sacramento Black Chamber of Commerce
Sacramento Builders' Exchange,
Sacramento Central Labor Council
Sacramento Convention & Visitors' Bureau
Sacramento County Airport System
Sacramento Works/Sacramento Employment & Training Agency
Sacramento Hispanic Chamber of Commerce
Sacramento Municipal Utility District
Sacramento Sports Commission
Sacramento-Sierra Building & Construction Trade Council
University of California, Davis
Pacific McGeorge School of Law
Urban Land Institute

Project Management
Valley Vision
1900 S Street
Sacramento, CA 95814
T: (916) 325-1630
F: (916) 925-1635

Partnership for Prosperity: What they're saying...

"By most measures, we are at a turning point. Responding to market forces alone can't suffice as a de facto economic development strategy. Sustained economic growth and job creation now require us to take deliberate steps at a regional scale, executed locally, to create the conditions for economic prosperity."

Jim Williams, Principal, Williams + Paddon Architects + Planners Inc.

Christopher Cabaldon, Mayor, West Sacramento

Roger Valine, CEO, Vision Service Plan

PFP co-chairs

Source: August 2005 op-ed in Sacramento Business Journal

"We want to make this a much better place to live and work."

Roger Valine, CEO, Vision Service Plan

PFP co-chair

Source: January 2005 news article in Sacramento Bee

"Will implementing Blueprint principles guarantee a bright economic future across the region and for all segments of our communities? Not by itself. That will take an integrated and ambitious strategy by all of the major stakeholders in our region to achieve, building on the success of Blueprint. That's the promise of Partnership for Prosperity."

Christopher Cabaldon, Mayor, West Sacramento

PFP co-chair

Source: April 2005 op-ed in SACOG Regional Report

"Blueprint's focus on housing choices and housing supply, a strong workforce, compact development, strengthening of downtowns in every community, and sustainable infrastructure investment, opens the doors to many economic development opportunities. Now our region must choose an economic strategy to match our land use and transportation vision."

Christopher Cabaldon, Mayor, West Sacramento

PFP co-chair

Source: April 2005 op-ed in SACOG Regional Report

"You can't shape market forces. But you can look at the assets you have and align them so that major stakeholders are focused on one or two or three key things."

Matt Mahood, President/CEO, Sacramento Metro Chamber of Commerce

Source: January 2005 news article in Sacramento Bee

"This is really meant to have a tangible outcome in several different areas. Once the goals are on paper, the partners are going to be held accountable to reach them."

Bob Burris, deputy director, Sacramento Area Commerce and Trade Organization

Source: March 2005 news article in Comstock's

"Twenty years from now I hope people will look back at this as a defining moment where we grabbed the economy by the reins. They'll also look at it as a time when business began to get done differently. In the end, it's the relationships we're building today that will endure the region's changes in the future."

Susan Frazier, CEO and Managing Partner, Valley Vision

Source: March 2005 news article in Comstock's

###