

The Web Site of The Sacramento Bee

This story is taken from Sacbee / Business.

New online resource will help residents go solar

By Ngoc Nguyen - nnguyen@sacbee.com

Published 6:14 am PDT Tuesday, April 22, 2008

Interested in adding solar panels to your home, but don't know where to begin? A new Web site by the California Energy Commission provides a one-stop shopping resource for residents interested in adding solar panels to new or existing homes.

Go Solar California offers nuts-and-bolts information about state and federal rebate programs and a searchable database of solar photovoltaic retailers and installers registered with the state.

Visitors can also use an interactive map to view new energy-efficient solar home communities throughout the state.

Go to: Sacbee / Back to story

This article is protected by copyright and should not be printed or distributed for anything except personal use.
The Sacramento Bee, 2100 Q St., P.O. Box 15779, Sacramento, CA 95852
Phone: (916) 321-1000

Copyright © The Sacramento Bee