Sacramento Startup and Innovation Ecosystem Subway Map

This conceptual subway-style map/circuit board of Sacramento's startup and innovation ecosystem represents the connections and relationships of the various resources and support services available to entrepreneurs and innovators in our region's growing startup community.

Thursday, October 25th

Golden 1 Center sits proudly in the heart of downtown Sacramento, less than a mile from California's first thriving business district. It's here that you'll find people from all walks of life building a community around their favorite things: Music, sports, entertainment, culture, food, and beverage. An homage to the city's legacy and a marvel of its bright future, Golden 1 Center represents everything that makes Sacramento the next great American city. From design to sustainability to connectivity to cuisine, it's a celebration of what Sacramento does best.

Originally built in 1856 by Gold Rush merchant Sheldon Fogus, the Leland Stanford Mansion State Historic Park was purchased by Leland and Jane Stanford. It housed three California governors during the 1860s. The mansion hosted meetings and negotiations that would develop transportation and trade deals that connected California to the rest of country. In 1900 it was given to the Catholic Diocese of Sacramento to house homeless children. The Diocese occupied the building until the 1970s. Since 1978, the Mansion became a state park and registered as a National Park in 1987.
